2023

Introduction

What is Urban Resilience Week?

The UNECE Urban Resilience Week will bring together representatives of national and subnational governments, experts, civil society representatives from the UNECE region and beyond to discuss strategies and solutions for building more resilient and sustainable cities. With a focus on innovative approaches to urban planning and design, innovative financing instruments for urban infrastructure and community engagement, the Urban Resilience Week will offer valuable insights and networking opportunities for anyone interested in practical solutions for promoting urban resilience.

Forum of Mayors

The Forum of Mayors brings together city leaders from across the UNECE region and beyond to address the key challenges of our time. In the third Forum of Mayors, under the theme "Urban regeneration towards 2030", mayors will discuss their cities' urban regeneration projects to achieve more inclusive, resilient and sustainable urban development.

84th session of the UNECE Committee on Urban Development, Housing and Land Management

The eighty-fourth session of the Committee will support regional exchange of experiences and good practices on promoting affordable, adequate and climate-neutral housing and inclusive, circular, smart and sustainable cities. The Committee session will also review the implementation of the "Place and Life in the ECE – A Regional Action Plan 2030" endorsed by the Committee at its eighty-second session, and the San Marino Declaration adopted by the Committee at its eighty-third session.

Who we are

However, all interested United Nations member States may participate in the work of UNECE. Over 70 international professional organizations and other non-governmental organizations take part in UNECE activities.
